

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

UMass Boston Faculty and Staff – Are you on the map?

UMass Boston is developing a Community Resource Center to serve as a clearinghouse for information about connections between the University and its many communities. As part of this effort, the Chancellor’s office is producing a map that will show where and how we connect. The first version of the map will make its public debut at the October 22, 2004 “Urban Connections Forum.” To have your research, teaching, or university-related service activities documented on the map, please fill out the following brief questionnaire. (Note: if you work with more than one community or community group, please make and fill out multiple copies!). You will receive a follow-up call that will allow you to verify and expand upon the information you supply. Thank you for putting yourself and UMass Boston on the map! Note: Please list any interactions or projects that were active from January 2003 onwards even if the project has since concluded.

Please complete this form as soon as possible. Simply return it by campus mail to: Molly Flavin, Office of Service Learning and Community Outreach, UMass Boston

Name: _____

Position/Job Title: _____

UMass Boston affiliation (Dept. / Institute / Office): _____

Phone #: _____ Email: _____

Geographic focus of your community interaction/project (e.g., it may be a specific address, or a particular neighborhood, or an entire city, region, or state – be specific to help us map it!):

Brief description of your community connection: _____

Name and address of the organization/business/network/individual(s) you work with (note: if a network, please list the organizations involved. You can attach additional sheets if needed.)