NANTUCKET

HIST 374: Whaling Women of Nantucket
Roberta Wollons
June 5-18 on Nantucket Campus
Humanities; US Diversity (both pending)
This course examines the lives of women living on Nantucket since the beginning of whaling in the seventeenth century. Through primary and secondary sources, we will meet the white wives of whalers, indigenous Wampanoag women, and African American women whose lives were deeply intertwined on the small island.

SESSION I

HIST 211: Foundations of Western Civilization
Maryann Brink ONLINE
Humanities
European history from Greece in the 5th century BCE to 1715, laying particular stress on politics, culture and religion. Major topics: culture of ancient Greece, rise of Rome and the ideology of the Roman Empire, early Christianity and its impact, the evolution of new political forms in the Middle Ages, medieval Christianity, Renaissance efforts to revive Greek and Roman civilization, Protestant Reformation and Catholic responses, and the scientific and intellectual culture of the seventeenth century.

HIST 212: Modern Western Civilization
Camille Weiss M/Tu/W/Th 10 – 11:30AM
Humanities
Western Civilization from the enlightenment of the 18th century up to the 1990s: a history of revolutions and wars, ideologies and institutions, but also a history of people, the lives they led and the decisions they made. During the last three centuries, Western Civilization has influenced the lives of all people whether they lived in the west or in other parts of the world. By studying western civilization we can understand a great deal about our present world and the lives we lead.

HIST 214: Modern World History
Gary Miller 1:30 – 4:30PM
International Diversity; Soc&BehSci
Processes of modernization and globalization since the late 18th century; their connections to imperialism, colonialism, and war; and their relationships to changing perceptions of society, politics, economics, gender, and culture in different regions of the world.

HIST 266: American History since 1877
Meaghan Duff ONLINE
Humanities
From the aftermath of Civil War and Reconstruction through urbanization, immigration, industrialization. American imperialism and rise to world power; cycles of economic change and the Great Depression; World Wars and Cold War worldwide and domestically; wars in Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, and Afghanistan; modern US culture.

HIST 280: Special Topics: American Soldiers
Kevin Hoskins ONLINE
Places American soldiers at the center of a historical study of U.S. wars from the Civil War to our modern military conflicts. The course focuses on various interpretations of the origins and causes of U.S. wars, the multitude of “lived experiences” of U.S. soldiers, and the concept of historical memory.

HIST 313: Nineteenth Century Europe
Spencer M. DiScala ONLINE
Humanities
This examination of political, economic, diplomatic, and cultural developments in the major and minor countries of nineteenth century Europe will give students an understanding about how they influenced the twentieth century, and beyond, while also giving them practice and feedback in writing and discussion.

HIST 318: Advanced Topics: History of Mexico
Benjamin D. Johnson ONLINE

HIST 339: Modern Irish History from 1800 to Present
Gerard F. Burke Tu/Th 10AM-1PM
This course examines the forces and movements in the development of Irish nationalism from 1800 to the achievement of national independence. The course also explores the history of an independent Ireland.

SESSION II

HIST 212: Modern Western Civilization
Matteo Casini ONLINE Humanities
A survey of Western culture, politics, and society from the 1700s to the present, from the Enlightenment and the American Revolution to the Cold War and end of the 20th century.

HIST 213: World History to 1800
Maryann Brink ONLINE
“Around the World in Sixteen Weeks”: from Blombos, Africa to the Tang Dynasty, from Mauryan India to the Incan Empire, from the American and French Revolutions to the Haitian Revolution and Bolivar in South America. Don't blink...you'll miss a decade!

HIST 214: Modern World History
Gary Miller Tu/Thu 10AM – 1PM International Diversity; Soc&BehSci
Processes of modernization and globalization since the late 18th century; their connections to imperialism, colonialism, and war; and their relationships to changing perceptions of society, politics, economics, gender, and culture in different regions of the world.

HIST 262: American Indian History to 1783
Sandra K. Haley ONLINE
This course examines the histories of indigenous peoples of North America from their perspective, including the peopling of the Americas; pre-Columbian societies and civilizations; first contact encounters and exchanges with non-Natives; strategies American Indians used to confront expanding European and indigenous powers; and ways indigenous North Americans engaged global markets, diplomacy, and competing empires.

HIST 265: American History before 1877
Lisa Roy Vox ONLINE Humanities
Covers the European settlement of North America, its impact on American Indians, and the development of the United States as well as its emergence as a modern nation.

HIST 290G: Globalization in Historical Perspective
Thomas P. Johnson MW 10AM – 1PM
Globalization is a major phenomenon of modern history. This course addresses its definitions, origins, characteristics and consequences from the 18th to 21st centuries through a range of writing and reading assignments, while exploring key sites in and around Boston.

HIST 392: American Women in Biography
Roberta Wollons ONLINE
This course introduces major themes of women’s history and historiography through the biographies of individual women. Biography allows us to examine not only the lives and times of individuals, but also the considerations historians tackle in trying to represent a life, and the difficulties inherent in researching women who often did not leave public records.

GRADUATE COURSES:
HIST 640, Atomic Bomb – Spencer Di Scala
HIST 682, Age of FDR – Tim Hacsi