Strategies for a Healthful and Active Life: Brought to You by the Science of Behavior Change
Date: Monday, October 21, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
This presentation will use a workshop approach to help students learn and apply strategies for changing a health behavior. While there are over 20 strategies, this brown bag will go in depth on 1 or 2 strategies, depending on the time and students’ choice of topics.

Presenters: Julie Wright, PhD is a behavioral scientist and Jessica Whiteley, PhD is a clinical psychologist. Both are faculty in the Exercise and Health Sciences Department at UMass Boston. Their training is in designing and evaluating behavior change programs for multiple behaviors (smoking, diet, exercise, and diabetes and weight self-management). They will use workshops from two programs, Active Living Every Day and Healthy Eating Every Day, developed and tested by scientists from the Cooper Institute and Brown University.

Madama Butterfly (Braintree Only)
Date: Monday, October 21, 11:45 a.m.–1:15 p.m. (times are correct)
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree
The opera Madama Butterfly, composed by the famous Giacomo Puccini, is the story of a young Japanese geisha who clings to the belief that her arrangement with a visiting American naval officer is a loving and permanent marriage. In preparation for our OLLI New York City trip, we will see excerpts from the 1974 production.

Presenter: Mary Doller is a retired educator who has been happily active in OLLI for the past 10 years. Last year she began to facilitate opera classes for OLLI, and she is delighted to share her love of opera with other OLLI members.

Andersonville and The Trial of Commandant Henry Wirtz (Video Conference from UMass to Braintree and Hingham)
Date: Tuesday, October 22, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Presentation Room 3, Lower Level, Healey Library, UMass Boston; Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library, Braintree; Whiton Room at the Hingham Public Library
Between February 1864 and April 1865, 14,000 Union soldiers were incarcerated at Andersonville, a Confederate prisoner of war camp. Conditions were deplorable. Almost one-third of those imprisoned died. Andersonville was the deadliest place in the Civil War. After the war, Wirtz was tried by a military tribunal and convicted of war crimes. He was hanged in November, 1865. Wirtz was the only person executed for war crimes following the Civil War. Today, Andersonville is maintained by the National Park Service.

Presenter: Gary L. Hylander earned his PhD at Boston College. His advisor and dissertation director was the noted Boston historian Thomas H. O’Connor. Hylander is currently an independent scholar who specializes as a presidential historian, pedagogical specialist for the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), and professor of history at Framingham State University. He is a frequent presenter at library forums, historical societies, senior living centers, and civic and professional organizations as well as a public affairs commentator on local cable news and radio.
Java: A Small Island with a Rich History, Part 1 (Video Conference from UMass to Braintree)

Date: Wednesday, October 23, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Locations: Presentation Room 3, Lower Level, Healey Library, UMass Boston; Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library, Braintree

This video delves into the history of Java from the 7th Century to the arrival of the Europeans in the 16th Century. During that time, many temples were built by the Buddhists and the Hindus. Most famous are Borobudur and Prambanan.

Presenters: Paul Sears and Barbara John, husband and wife team, started doing political videos for the Newton Democratic Party. They became so interested in video production that they expanded to documentaries, such as the one they’ll be presenting.

Adopt Don’t Shop: Rescuing Dogs in New England

Date: Thursday, October 24, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

Must love dogs! Learn how to get involved in animal rescue right here in New England. We will cover the foundations of rescue and discuss available volunteer roles with a local non-profit rescue group, from fostering dogs in your own home to conducting reference checks for potential adopters over the phone. Taught by an Adoptions Team Lead from Last Hope K9 Rescue, this presentation helps adults find accessible volunteer opportunities that are essential to saving dogs’ lives.

Presenter: Molly Wylie is a PhD student in UMass Boston’s Gerontology Department. As an Adoptions Team Lead and active volunteer for Last Hope K9 Rescue, she conducts reference checks for eligible adopters, coordinates adoption booths at local events, conducts home visits, fosters dogs of all breeds, and informally educates others on the importance of animal rescue.

Nauru and Kiribati: Two Dots in the Pacific Ocean (Video Conference from UMass to Braintree and Hingham)

Date: Tuesday, October 29, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Locations: Presentation Room 3, Lower Level, Healey Library, UMass Boston; Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree; Whiton Room at the Hingham Public Library

The world’s refugee crisis and climate change are two issues that affect even the most remote nations of the Pacific Ocean. Nauru, the world’s smallest island country, has accepted thousands of African and Middle Eastern asylum seekers, which has produced enormous stresses in their society. Kiribati, a nation of ring-shaped coral islands, has a maximum elevation of eight feet on the main island where the largest number of its population resides. Thus, it is one of the countries most likely to disappear due to climate change and rising sea levels. Barry Pell traveled in both of these nations, speaking with residents and documenting with his photography the current conditions of the landscape and lives of the people.

Presenter: Barry Pell is a world traveler and photojournalist. He has traveled widely over 5 decades, visiting and documenting landscapes and cultures in 167 countries. Mr. Pell has also lived and traveled in China, Eastern Europe, North Africa, and South America. He currently lectures on international cultures at schools, universities, and institutions in the Boston area.

Java: A Small Island with a Rich History, Part 2 (Video Conference from UMass to Braintree)

Date: Wednesday, October 30, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Locations: Presentation Room 3, Lower Level, Healey Library, UMass Boston; Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree

This video continues where Part 1 left off, with the arrival of the Europeans. It describes the difficulties of Dutch colonialism, which ended abruptly at World War II when Java was occupied by the Japanese. But, happily, Java became independent shortly after the war, and this video goes on to describe how difficult it was to unify a country that comprises 6,000 inhabited islands and 700 cultures.

Presenters: Paul Sears and Barbara John, husband and wife team, started doing political videos for the Newton Democratic Party. They became so interested in video production that they expanded to documentaries, such as the one they’ll be presenting.
The Zen of Seeing
Date: Thursday, October 31, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
Zen invites us to look at creation through our inner eye and to bond with what we see. In that contemplative spirit we will meditate on an object such as a plant, rock, or shell and conclude by drawing how it appears to us when we act from that inner place. There will be an opportunity to share but no requirement to do so. You are welcome to bring something you wish to suggest as an object of our visual attention. Do bring a pencil and sheet of paper.
Presenter: Patricia Curran has been practicing meditation for many years. Expressions of that inner spirit have taken form in both dance and art. She is energized by what Zen has to offer everyone, but especially to people of spirit who have not drawn since grammar school.

Jackie Robinson: Civil Rights Icon
Date: Monday, November 4, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
This presentation will take a closer look at the efforts of Jackie Robinson and his journey to integrate Major League Baseball. The question to be examined is why Robinson is not in the discussion of Civil Rights pioneers, as his debut in 1947 was several years before the Brown v. Board of Education Supreme Court decision.
Presenter: Anthony Guerriero is a former Senior Visiting Instructor of American history at Salem State where he taught for 14 years. Anthony holds a BA in history and secondary education from Salem State College. He received his MA in American studies from UMass Boston.

Tranquility Grove: The Great Abolitionist Picnic of 1844 (Hingham Only)
Date: Monday, November 4, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Whiton Room at the Hingham Public Library
Tranquility Grove: The Great Abolitionist Picnic of 1844 is a new book that describes a place and an event in history. The event was the largest abolitionist picnic in history. It was held 175 years ago and attended by 6–10,000 individuals. The book describes in detail the organization, the reason for gathering, the procession, the banners, and the participants of the day. Today, the place is an overgrown and underused conservation property in the Town of Hingham. The Town hopes to restore access and provide interpretation of this important moment in time.
Presenter: Martha Reardon Bewick is a writer and lifelong resident of the South Shore. She has been active in things historical since her childhood. Martha was Secretary of the Board of Governors of Plimoth Plantation, Chair of the Robert Bennet Forbes House, and today is a Fellow of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Why You Should Keep a Daily Journal
Date: Tuesday, November 5, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
As we age, our memory may start to falter. Keeping a journal stimulates the brain and also provides a collection of memories of our everyday lives.
Presenter: Jim Buckley has been conducting classes at OLLI since 2008, such as acting classes, the history of the Secret Service, and the history of the CIA. Having written over 1,400 published history articles, Jim can vouch for the fact that writing is a grand stimulus for older adults.

The Forgotten Adams (Braintree Only)
Dates: Tuesday, November 5, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree
Louisa Catherine Adams, the wife of John Quincy, our sixth President, is generally overshadowed by her domineering mother-in-law. Although she is not as prolific in her writing as her husband or other members of the family, Louisa was equally influential in her own ways and methods. She was incredibly charismatic and quickly became a favored member of the various European and American social circles in which she was engaged throughout her husband’s political career. Louisa is the daughter-in-law of a president, the wife of a president, the mother of an ambassador to England, and a forgotten Adams.
Presenter: Moriah Illsley received her master’s in public history at UMass Boston. She has been working at the National Park Service since 2014, spending three seasons in Lowell National Historical Park and three seasons at the Adams National Historical Park where she loves exploring the lesser known aspects of our local famous family.

Senegal: Sun, Sea, and Surprises
Dates: Thursday, November 7, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
For 17 days we traveled with a small group of six Americans and two Senegalese men in a unique program called Intercultural Dimensions. Preparations for the trip included French lessons and monthly meetings to discuss the languages, religions, foods, history, development, and culture of Senegal. After three days in the capital city of Dakar, our journey included the following locations: Koalack, Kolda, and the rural town of Sedhiou in the Casamance region where we stayed on a family compound experiencing daily living in rural Africa. We had the opportunity to visit many non-governmental programs designed to help with health, education, agriculture, business, and social services. We will present a PowerPoint with pictures and videos of our trip.

Presenters: Diane McCormack is a former Peace Corps volunteer in Honduras and Tom Taranto is a former Vista volunteer in Alaska. Diane and Tom have been members of OLLI for 15 years.

Zentangle Play (Braintree Only)
Dates: Thursday, November 7, 1:00–3:00 p.m. (times are correct)
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree
For those who have taken an Introduction to Zentangle class, come sharpen your focus and deepen your relaxation while learning some new tangles with a Certified Zentangle Teacher.

Presenter: Moo Bishop is a Certified Zentangle Teacher (CZT) and longtime resident of Boston. A lifelong wanna-be artist and ADD sufferer, she discovered Zentangle as a clean and satisfying way to create quick bursts of beautiful art while claiming order in her life.

The Age-Friendly Community Movement: What Is Boston Doing?
Date: Tuesday, November 12, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
Developed by the World Health Organization (WHO), the age friendly community framework is being rapidly adopted by cities and towns worldwide, including 50 communities in Massachusetts. This session will include a description of the framework and detail the progress made by the City of Boston with respect to making the city more age-friendly. This is a presentation of the Center for Social and Demographic Research on Aging (CSDRA) with UMass Boston’s Gerontology Institute. OLLI at UMass Boston is one of only three OLLIs housed in a Gerontology Department and therefore able to directly benefit from its important research.

Presenter: Join CSDRA’s Caitlin Coyle, PhD and Gerontology PhD candidates Ceara Somerville and Cindy Bui as they discuss age-friendly communities: what they are, why they are important, and how the Age Strong Boston Initiative is working to make Boston more age-friendly, including ways in which residents can contribute.

Hypnosis for the Creative Spirit (Hingham Only)
Date: Wednesday, November 13, 12:00–1:00 p.m.
Location: Whiton Room at the Hingham Public Library
Breakthrough limitations can enhance your natural abilities by learning how to access the power and creativity of your “inner mentor”. This seminar is designed to explain and demystify the benefits of self-hypnosis for anyone in the creative arts, such as dance, art, theater, music, writing, etc. All are welcome. A hypnosis session will be conducted, offering powerful suggestions to participants to consistently achieve optimum performance in their chosen field.

Presenter: Kathryn McGlynn, Certified Hypnotist, offers private sessions and public seminars in schools, colleges, hospitals, and healing centers throughout the region. Additionally, she delivers hypnosis seminars for a large area health insurer. With her soothing voice, she has created 25+ hypnosis CDs to help people create positive changes in their lives.
Boston's Bacchante
Date: Wednesday, November 13, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
Frederick William MacMonnies (1863‒1937) was inspired to create “Bacchante and Infant Faun” cast in 1894, a statue that subsequently created quite the sensation around the world. In 1897, “Bacchante and Infant Faun” was forced out of Boston as a result of Puritan constraints. This presentation examines how relationships, inspiration, and a little luck helped to preserve the vision that Charles F. McKim intended for the Boston Public Library.
Presenter: Diane (Rogers) Kelly is currently researching the lost, forgotten, and often misunderstood stories of the Boston Public Library. Since 2010 she has taught several OLLI classes, most recently “Digging Deeper into History with Online Research Tools”. In addition to her personal research, Diane is currently participating in the Boston Police Strike of 1919 Project through UMass Archives.

The Old Professor Steps Up to the Pulpit: Short Sermons for Those Who Live in, and Love, This World, Part 2 (Braintree Only)
Date: Thursday, November 14, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree
Note: The title and description of this presentation is the same as the presentation last November but the content is new and current! OLLI members who have heard some of the Reverend/Professor Richard Pierce’s sermons over the years are aware that his sermons are, almost always, very short. His children recently requested that he compile a selection of these sermons and put them into a binder, both for his sons to remember him and to pass on to his grandchildren. For this brown bag presentation, Richard has chosen some favorites from his 20+ years of sermonizing. He will share with OLLI members as many of these sermons as will fit easily into the brown bag timeframe. At the end of the presentation, he will ask members to assist him in deciding which sermons to include in the binder.
Presenter: Richard Pierce studied World Religions at Yale University. He is a Vietnam Veteran and has spent a considerable amount of time in East Asia studying Buddhism. Richard’s major academic field has been Judaism: He studied and worked for some years with his teacher, Nobel Laureate Elie Wiesel. He also taught in Law School for 15 years! In addition, Richard served for 25 years as Pastor of the Riverside Church in Lawrence, MA.

The 1944 Presidential Election @ 75 (Video Conference from UMass to Braintree and Hingham)
Date: Monday, November 18, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Presentation Room 3, Lower Level, Healey Library, UMass Boston; Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library, Braintree; Whiton Room at the Hingham Public Library
Join us as we discuss the election of FDR to a fourth term as president. Roosevelt dropped Henry Wallace as his running mate in favor of Senator Harry Truman. With FDR in such obvious poor health, it was clear that voters who supported the Democratic ticket were really voting for two presidents. Republican nominee Governor Thomas Dewey of New York campaigned against the New Deal and a return to a smaller federal government. The war was not an issue; it was going well for the United States and its allies.
Presenter: Gary L. Hylander, see bio above under October 22 Brown Bag.

Did We Really Go to the Moon?
Date: Tuesday, November 19, 11:45 a.m.–1:00 p.m. (times are correct)
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston
If you ask an American if we really went to the moon, most would reply “Of course, the government tells us we did (and we know that the government never lies), and there are pictures of 3 men cavorting on the surface of the moon—complete with an American flag waving on an atmosphere-less moon!—(and we know that pictures can never be faked, photo-shopped, etc.)” So we will look at a 45-minute documentary by Bart Sibrel as well as some other materials, and learn that there is a different point of view. Time for discussion of this fascinating “conspiracy theory” will follow.
Presenter: Greg Flynn has six degrees and has taught English and Spanish at BU, Quincy College, and other colleges in the Boston area as well as in six foreign countries. He has taught OLLI courses on “America’s Financial Crisis,” “The New World Order,” “9/11 Mysteries,” “Propaganda,” and “America’s Untold History.” Greg is a political activist for progressive causes.
The World of Cheese
Date: Wednesday, November 20, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

Calling all cheese lovers! Whether you're an Epoisses expert or a Roquefort rookie, this is a class for you. We will talk about the history and process of cheese making, how modern-day cheese makers are embracing artisan traditions, how to put together a beautiful cheese tray, and what to sip on while enjoying your nibbles. You'll leave armed with the knowledge you need to approach even the most daunting of cheese counters and create a perfect cheese course of your own.

Presenter: Genevieve Forde-Bremseth is a graduate of the professional chef’s program at the Cambridge School of Culinary Arts where her courses included an in-depth study of world cuisines. She has taught courses on The Spice Route, and French, Mediterranean, Asian, Spanish, European, and Italian cuisines for the OLLI program. Genevieve also teaches at the Boston Center for Adult Education.

Journey Back to the Moon and Beyond (Braintree Only)
Date: Thursday, November 21, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree

On July 20, 1969 the whole world held its breath and stood still as NASA Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin descended to the lunar surface, and a worldwide celebration erupted as they touched down onto the Sea of Tranquility. Now, 50 years later, the United States is still benefiting from the Apollo missions and, by 2024, NASA will be going back to the moon and using a new gateway there to fly humans to Mars. Celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the Apollo Moon landing and learn of future NASA moon missions.

Presenter: Pat Monteith retired from UMass Boston several years ago and rekindled her interest in the space program. She was selected as a NASA/JPL Solar System Ambassador in 2016, a role in which she conducted several dozen programs for children and adults about various space science topics including the Moon.

What Can One Person Do about Climate Change?
Date: Thursday, November 21, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

This presentation briefly illustrates that climate change is real and already having a devastating impact, it gives reason for hope, and it describes seven kinds of action that individuals can take to address this existential threat.

Presenter: Grady McGonagill, PhD was Principal of McGonagill Consulting for 30 years, with clients in the business, government, and social sectors worldwide. In 2013, Grady felt called to help build a movement to address climate change. He founded and leads the Massachusetts Chapter of Elders Climate Action (ECA). ECA aims to mobilize elders throughout the United States to address climate change while there is still time to protect the wellbeing of future generations.

The Elder Index: Economic Security and Aging in Massachusetts
Date: Monday, December 2, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

The Elder Economic Security Index, developed at UMass Boston, is a national measure of the cost of living for older adults. This brown bag session includes a brief overview of how the measure is constructed and used, including a demonstration of how to compare Elder Index values across places in the United States. This presentation is by the Center for Social and Demographic Research on Aging (CSDRA) in UMass Boston’s Gerontology Institute. OLLI at UMass Boston is one of only three OLLIs housed in a Department of Gerontology, and therefore members are able to directly benefit from its important research.

Presenters: CSDRA Director Jan Mutchler, PhD and Gerontology PhD candidate Yang Li discuss the Elder Index and what the Index teaches us about economic security and aging in Massachusetts.

Oral History and the Boston Marathon Bombing: Documenting Trauma through Narrative (Braintree Only)
Date: Monday, December 2, 12:00‒1:00 p.m.
Location: Logan Auditorium, Thayer Public Library in Braintree

After the bombing of the Boston Marathon in 2013, Northeastern University professors and students created the Boston Marathon Bombing Digital Archive (BMBDA). As a part of that archive, oral historians Jayne Guberman, Joanna Shea O’Brien, and project manager Kristi Girdharry created the WBUR Oral History Project, collecting over 37 interviews of survivors, first responders, medical personnel, runners, business owners, police officers, and community members of different backgrounds who were directly affected by the bombing and the aftermath. Find out more about what oral history is, hear clips from the interviews, learn about the importance of narrator centered storytelling, and the public benefits and personal challenges to using oral history in a post-traumatic setting.

Presenter Joanna Shea O’Brien received an MFA from Columbia University and a BA from Marymount University. Her work in oral history began with the September 11, 2001 Oral History Narrative and Memory Project. In 2014, she collected oral histories for the Boston Marathon Bombing WBUR Oral History Project, and she has presented at several history conferences on the topic of trauma and narrative.

“I give to my mollato woman Margaret...”* Female Independence and African American Dependency in a Colonial Massachusetts Household

Date: Tuesday, December 3, 12:00–1:00 p.m.

Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

Two extraordinary women lived in the same Charlestown household at the beginning of the 18th century. Widow Elizabeth Thomas, daughter of Harvard’s first President Henry Dunster, became head of household at her husband’s death. As she was planning her will, she knew she was dispensing substantial wealth held in a range of assets. Among those assets were three human beings, Toney, Jack, and Margaret. This program will explore the unusual legal measures that Thomas inscribed in her will. It will also delve as deeply as possible into Margaret’s world, who was particularly privileged by Thomas, following her to the end of her life.

*Quote from book titled Henry Dunster and His Descendants by Samuel Dunster, p 32.

Presenter: Polly Kienle is an interpretive ranger at Boston National Historical Park. Trained as an academic historian, she specializes in turning research into place-based history programs for the public to enjoy. This presentation is a part of a larger project she has undertaken, which explores how to reconstruct the lives of enslaved New Englanders in the pre-Revolutionary era.

The Power of Song

Date: Thursday, December 5, 12:00–1:00 p.m.

Location: Room 418, 1st Floor, McCormack Hall, UMass Boston

Can songs change people? Can they change history? Historians debate this endlessly, but what do the songs say? What does their story tell us about the power of song to change us, from ancient tradition to modern times?

Presenter: Scott Alarik covered folk music in The Boston Globe for over 20 years. He is an author, journalist, musician, and host of WUMB-FM’s Folk Tales series. Scott’s latest book is a novel about folk music called Revival, which won the Benjamin Franklin Silver Award for Popular Fiction.
