TriBeta is a national biological honors society founded in 1922, with over 430 chapters and more than 175,000 members. The goals of TriBeta are to promote interest in the biological sciences and to support and promote student research. TriBeta holds national and regional conventions and publishes a journal, BIOS, in which students can publish their work. Chapters have regular meetings and organize activities in the spirit of the goals of TriBeta.

We cordially invite you to join our chapter.

There are two types of undergraduate memberships; please read the descriptions below carefully.

Regular Member (one-time fee of $55 – includes $5 chapter fee)
Criteria to join as a Regular Member:
- Is an undergraduate Biology Major – 2nd semester sophomore or higher
- Has taken three biology classes (Bio111/112 + one 200-level course or higher) – with at least two Biology courses taken at UMass-Boston
- Has a “B” (3.0) average or higher in all Biology courses
- Is in good academic standing
- This is a lifetime membership; it comes with an honor cord and a 2 year subscription to BIOS

Associate Member (one-time fee of $45 – includes $5 chapter fee)
Criteria for joining as an Associate Member:
- Anyone that is interested in biology but is ineligible to join as a Regular Member
- This membership ends upon graduation or departure from UMass-Boston and it comes with a one year subscription to BIOS
- Once an Associate Member meets the criteria to become a Regular Member, he/she can change his/her status to become a Regular Member for an additional fee of $10.
