Join us for a celebration of the release of Lawrence Blum’s
High Schools, Race, and America’s Future
What Students Can Teach Us About Morality, Diversity, and Community

Praise for High Schools, Race, and America’s Future
“How can we talk honestly about race? How can we make a classroom rigorous and exciting? There’s no better answer to both questions than this account of philosopher and college professor Larry Blum’s gutsy foray into teaching a public high school course on race and racism. There is much to learn from this book.”

—Martha Minow, Dean, and Jeremiah Smith, Jr., Professor, Harvard Law School